Class 395 Established

Class 395, Information Processing System Organization, has been established and replaces class 364, subclass 200 (General Purpose Programmable Digital Computer System), subclasses 513-513.5 (Artificial Intelligence), subclass 518-523 (Control of Data Presentation), and subclass 900 (Miscellaneous Digital Processing Systems). On June 26, 1990, examiners and classifiers met with public searchers to discuss the preliminary schedule. After consideration of comments received in that meeting, a proposed schedule was generated. The proposed hierarchial schedule of primary subclasses with their associated definitions was published in the Official Gazette, Vol. 1119, No. 3 on Oct. 16, 1990. Following evaluation of public comments, the final schedule for class 395 was created. The final Hierarchical schedule of primary subclasses and associated definitions are shown below.

NOTE: The CASPIR terms can be electronically searched on the APS Messenger system by using Class 364, Digest 1 (General Purpose Programmable Digital Computer Systems) and class 364, Digest 2 (Miscellaneous Digital Data Processing Systems).

Class 395 was established as of Nov. 5, 1991, and assigned to Group 2300 Art Units as follows:

Definition of the class

I. GENERAL STATEMENT OF THE CLASS SUBJECT MATTER

(1) This is the generic class for digital processing systems and corresponding methods for performing information processing functions and methods for controlling operation of such processing systems.

(2) This class also provides for artificial intelligence, i.e., systems or methods which have the capacity to perform one or more of the functions or recognition, speech signal processing of knowledge processing (i.e, propositional logic, reasoning, learning self-improvement), complex operations of manipulator (e.g. robot control, or inexact reasoning (e.g., fuzzy logic).

(3) This class also provides for methods or apparatus for processing data for (1) static presentation (hard copy) or (2) display, wherein the processing of data for display includes the creation or manipulation of graphic objects (e.g., artificial image) or text by a computer prior to use with or in a specific display system.

1. ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE:

Subject matter under the class definition wherein the system or method has the capacity to perform one or more of the functions of recognition, speech signal processing, knowledge processing (i.e., propositional logic, reasoning, learning, self-improvement), complex operations of a manipulator (e.g., robot control), or inexact reasoning (e.g., fuzzy logic).

100. DATA PRESENTATION/COMPUTER GRAPHICS (e.g., IMAGE GRAPHICS, TEXT):

Subject matter under the class definition comprising methods or apparatus for processing data for (1) static presentation (hard copy) or (2) display, wherein the processing of data for display includes the creation or manipulation of graphic objects (e.g., artificial images) or text by a computer prior to use with or in a specific display system.

200. TRANSMISSION OF INFORMATION AMONG MULTIPLE COMPUTER SYSTEMS:

Subject matter under the class definition comprising apparatus or processes for transmitting information (e.g., address, data, control, and status) between multiple computer systems via a communication medium and for performing significant processing in which there is a change in the content of the data before or after the transmission.

250. BUFFERING FUNCTIONS:

Subject matter under the class definition including means or steps, involving buffering structure or operations, which change the speed of information exchange among any combination of processing component(s), memory component(s) and I/O component(s).

275. I/O PROCESSING:

Subject matter under the class definition including means or steps for the control of input/output components or functions.

325. SYSTEM INTERCONNECTIONS:

Subject matter under the class definition including details of instruction prefetching, fetching, buffering, decoding, pipelining, and execution.

400. STORAGE ADDRESS FORMATION:

Subject matter under the class definition including means or methods for forming or manipulating memory addresses.

425. STORAGE ACCESSING AND CONTROL:

Subject matter under the class definition including the control of access to memory components and the accessing of the memory components.

500. COMPATIBILITY, SIMULATION, OR EMULATION OF SYSTEM COMPONENTS:

Subject matter under the class definition including details of means or steps by which any one of a combination of processing component(s), memory component(s) and I/O component(s) is made compatible with at least one other processing component, or made to simulate or emulate another processing component.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs), receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier-issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections, which are organized in patent number sequence, are available for use by the public free of charge. Each of the PDLs, in addition, offers supplemental reference publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System, including the Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public, in gaining effctive access to information contained in patents. CASSIS (Classification And Search Support Information System); which provides direct, on-line access to Patent and Trademark Office data, is available at all PDLs. Facilities for making paper copies of patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent collections among the PDLs and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is urged to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
